I AM A CIRCLE

Lizzie Beltane

I am a circle, an ancestral circle
The soul that I come from it is ever present, it is ever long
When I was growing in grandmother's womb
I picked up her stories, they laid down her tune
Of the dance that my spirit would weave in this life
I'm singing them out now, I'm seeing and seeing and hearing and hearing and

I am a circle, an ancestral circle
The soul that I come from it is ever present, it is ever long

How many faces have I had before, how many times did I walk on this shore?
People singing, in spirit, their voices are one
When I listen to it I sing it, I sing it, I sing it, I sing it

Cos I am a circle, an ancestral circle
The soul that I come from it is ever present, it is ever long

Wonderful woman, powerful me
Working with cycles my soul to set free
I will nourish and honour the earth with my blood
Knowing she's seeing me, holding me, hearing me, loving me

I am a circle, an ancestral circle
The soul that I come from it is ever present, it is ever long
